Admiral Stansfield Turner, USN
Director
Central Intelligence Agency
Washington, D.C. 20505

Dear Admiral Turner:

Please accept my deep gratitude to you for allowing me the opportunity to meet with you during your recent visit to San Diego. I consider it a great honor to have met you on such a Personal level, and to have been able to discuss intelligence with you as Director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Your keen interest in my new course on the History of Espionage really impressed me, and gave me even greater enthusiasm to continue to do research and present a positive image of the CIA to the academic community.

During our interview you mentioned you would like to see a copy of the Explore Magazine published by the University of California at La Jolla. I would like to call your attention to pages 51, and 60. You may also be interested in the other enclosed articles.

Admiral Turner, I am greatly interested in your offer to spend a year with your agency and doing research. Please send me the details concerning your Scholar In Residence Program. I could be available after November of this year.

Enclosed are some of the pictures--memories of your visit to San Diego. I gave a few to Mr. Lew Hutchinson and he was very pleased with them. We are both in the Navy League, and I am working with him on his anti-drug program.

My sympathy on the passing of your father. My father passed away four months ago.

Very sincerely yours,

Denis I. Jana

N. B. I am enclosing a copy of your interview which appeared recently in the San Diego Union. Also while reading A Man Called Intrepid, I came across this interesting footnote and thought you would like to see it.
